
LLM analysis:

The previous codes failure indicate that the scoring mechanism was not effectively differentiating between the relevance of different papers to the queried topic.

This likely happened due to overly simplistic or incorrect implementations of text similarity, year similarity, and normalization logic.